Freya Stark was born in Paris, where her parents were studying art. Her mother, Flora, was an Italian of Polish/German descent; her father, Robert, an English painter from Devon. In her lifetime she was famous for her experiences in the Middle East, her writing and her cartography/5.

Freya Stark was born in Paris and raised in Italy and England. Her father was English and mother Italian. Her father was English and mother Italian. She spoke English, French, Italian and German and later learned Arabic, Persian and at 60, Turkish.

Unlike Syria and Iraq, where Europeans were well protected, Persia in was an independent country only recently recovering from years of lawlessness. Despite its apparent dangers, Freya Stark's romantic soul found an affinity with people who seemed to prefer poverty with freedom to sub-colonial debbieshomeshop.com: Malise Ruthven. The Valleys of the Assassins was the first of many volumes of travel-writing by Freya Stark, chronicling several excursions she made between and Stark lived in Baghdad at the time -- daring enough, one would imagine.
