The research is based on 15 semi-directive interviews performed with current and former French audit seniors. The interviews were meant to highlight the role of irregular auditing in view of the individual and organisational strive for legitimacy that characterises the audit profession.

The paper also proposes that internal audit poses a mediating role between forensic accounting and corporate governance maturity by linking professional theory and agency theory in its relationship. The mediating effect of financial performance on the relationship between social responsibility and ownership structure. Although corporate environmentalism has achieved great momentum and the literature has examined both its motivations and performance outcomes, relatively little is known about the specific managerial processes whereby companies may translate their motivational factors into improved performance. Given directors central role in monitoring and advising management, the disclosure of the motive for directors resignation, especially if it is related to concerns about future performance, contains important information for investors, allowing shareholders to react in a timely manner.

Purpose This paper aims to provide a comprehensive view of the role of previous cooperative relationships between partners at the different stages of development of strategic alliances: formation, design and post-formation, as well as their effect on alliance performance. Design/methodology/approach This paper is a comprehensive review of the literature.
